

My parents tell me that I need to finish my chores before watching TV. I want to argue, but...

---

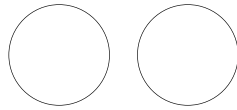

---

A kid in a different class was mean to me at recess. I want to be mean back, but...

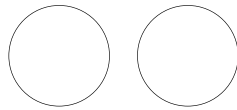

---

You're at school doing some challenging math work. When you finish, you can go to your favorite center. But the work is hard, and it seems like it's going to take forever to finish. You look at the kid beside you and see that they've finished. You're tempted to copy their work but...

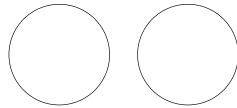

---

I was finally next in line to get ice cream, but then my mom called me over to help her. If I leave that means that I would be all the way to the very back again. I think about not obeying but...

---

Your little brother is so annoying all the time! When you went to grab the ketchup, he snatched right before you got to it. You want to snatch it out of his hands and complain to dad but...

---

My dad says 'grades before games' - meaning I have to do homework before I play video games. I have a ton of homework, but if I turn the volume down he may not be able to tell if I'm doing homework or playing video games. I'm tempted but...

